

Please be advised that between the 20th - 29th March we had intermittent computer failure and parts of our data were lost including future appointments made during that time. This may cause some double booked appointments. If you have any future appointments please confirm them.

We ask that you please be understanding and patient with us during this time as there may be delays at the time of your appointment. If you wish to reschedule your appointment, please contact reception.

Thank you, Dr Clare Boothroyd.
